Descrizione

The last stage involves a path with no difference in height. From Cartignano we take the path downhill along cultivated fields and agricultural properties. In short, you reach Ponte Bedale (Bridge) and you take the agricultural path on the left, Tetti hamlet (Dronero). Once you have passed the village, the signs allow you to continue on the right, on asphalt, in the direction of the cycle-pedestrian track that you take nearby Ponte Olivengo (Bridge). Along the Maira stream and in the shade of towering chestnut trees you can reach the wide fields of the Archero region, close to the town of Dronero. A couple of kilometers still allow you to reach the charming Piazzetta Cariolo (Square), the heart of the medieval town of Dronero. You can not miss a photo shoot on the crenellated bridge, known as "Ponte del Diavolo" (Devil’s Bridge) (1428 AD), with its unequaled arches and framed by the peaks of the upper Maira valley.
